Car Stories kicked out

Car Stories, the experimental theatre show that takes place in a car, has been expelled from the Montreal Fringe Festival.

This week, the innovative show had provoked complaints about noise and inappropriate behaviour.

"For a long, long list of reasons, they have been expelled. We are not selling tickets for them and they are not part of the festival," Fringe producer Jeremy Hechtman told The Gazette.

The company says it will attempt to continue doing the show on its own.

Car Stories is performed for three people at a time in three automobiles. Actors improvise dialogue in the front seat while theatregoers eavesdrop from the back.

Anyone wishing to see the show is asked to go to 4385 St. Dominique St.

Hurling steel, burning rubber and lots of testosterone turn CAR STORIES into a hip-hop hot rod.
